The students learn:

- To be optimistic and hopeful about diversity
- That old people are not a homogenous group
- That commonalities and differences exist between people of all ages
- That stereotyping and negativity about ageing can be re-envisioned
- That they have the responsibility and the skills to shape preferred futures